

CFUNITED survey - The future of web development

Posted At : June 26, 2007 2:59 AM | Posted By : Michael Smith

Related Categories: survey

I am interested in your thoughts on the future of web development. I will be speaking about my thoughts on this at the CFUNITED keynote 8am Wednesday. If you get a chance before then please complete the survey at <http://cfunited.com/go/survey>

If you don't have time before then don't worry I will give out the URL at the keynote and you can give your feedback during the week.

(Also if you don't know your answer to some of the questions right now that is ok - fill out the ones you do know now and you can come back and take the survey again a second time to fill out the other answers later.)

I will mention some common themes from what attendees think both on Wednesday morning and as more comments come in during the week. Thanks for sharing your thoughts with the group!