

Rachel Maxim - AJAX Usability

Posted At : March 24, 2008 4:16 PM | Posted By : Liz Frederick

Related Categories: featured

Check out Rachel Maxim's blog to find out more about her CFUnited topic AJAX Usability.

"Speaking on AJAX Usability at CFUnited

I've attended CFUnited since it was called "CFUN" and held in a single room (how it has grown!), and I'm excited to say that I will also be a speaker this year. I will be speaking on AJAX Usability. My talk, as of this writing, will be on Tuesday June 19th at 9:30 am.

A little bit about my talk...

When AJAX first became widespread, several usability gurus aired concerns about how this new power could be abused, and we've seen no shortage of AJAX usability mistakes on the web. Thankfully, many design patterns and best practices have also emerged, and following these guidelines can help you avoid those pitfalls. In my session, I will cover some of the top usability issues you should be aware of when using AJAX, and show practical examples of how to overcome them."

To read more visit <http://rmaxim.blogspot.com/2008/03/speaking-on-ajax-usability-at-cfunited.html>